I'm confused, I need to do another quest line in order to unlock consent for my offspec? it unlocked with 55 features on my basic specs and just wanted to get back into my protege specs, but at 35 features I can't unlock consent. Edit: Thank you all. it was a user interface error that decided itself after the reboot I just did. Page 2 28 comments from Wowpedia The latest patch for World of Warcraft: Legion adds a lot of new content and features. One of the most noticeable changes is the ability to unlock new artifact features and raise your artifact knowledge from 25-50. There are also new quests on the Broken Bank and a new faction. All of this leads to unlocking new features for your artifact, but it's easy to miss what you really need to do. I'm going to jump exactly how to unlock new traits and knowledge. How to unlock new artifacts and knowledge in Legion 7.2 there are a few things you need before you can even start: Weapons at 35 features or above Artifact Knowledge in 25 If you have at least that you will be able to unlock new features and knowledge after a few lines of quest. Unlocking the broken shore First you will need to get to the Broken Shore. You can get a kick-off quest from Hadgar in Dalaran. You can open a dungeon log to take the quest if you don't see it when you log in. This leads to a new scenario that puts you on a broken bank afterwards. Next you will be able to get a Search for Lost Knowledge quest. Take other quests so you can make them on your way to this quest. The location of knowledge is located near Aalgen Point. You will need to go north a bit and then up to the ramp on the mountain. You will need to either press the ghostly head, or use the quest element in each location. Unlock more Artifact Knowledge After you get all 3 locations, go back to Hadgar's Deliverance Point to turn the quest in. that there is nothing else after searching to start new orders for work. The game doesn't tell you, but you'll need to return to Deliverance Point on a broken shore to pick up a new quest from Khadgar. This quest is called Broken Shore: Investigating the Legion, and requires you to find an item on the broken shore. Just kill the enemies until you get a drop then go back to Hadgar to turn on the quest. Now you can finally start your weapons quest. Your next quest requires you to return to Dalaran to talk to Board Six. After some short dialogue quests you will be able to pick up quests for each of your specialties. Again, they will only be available for your weapons, which are at 35 traits or higher, and each one is separated. Once you complete the questline for your weapons, you will need to get back to surrender it. They end up asking you to raise your weapon. To do this, step back into a big circle and wait for additional button action to appear. When the quest is completed, it will show a new area with new features on your weapon. You will also get a refund of all the power artifacts that you put in past the hell of 35, and your weapon gets reset back to 35. The next feature will cost just under 2 million artifacts of power, and one then jumps to 10 million. Fortunately, you will get a lot more energy now and this will increase significantly in the coming weeks. There will also be additional rows for the features that were originally 3rd rank. That's all you need to know to unlock your new artifact features and knowledge in WoW Legion Patch 7.2. Let me know if you have any questions! Just browse for your screenshot using the form below.
